

CONFLUENCE IN HARPERS FERRY

SURVEYORS RENDEZVOUS 2022

September 21-23, 2022

Clarion Inn Harpers Ferry-Charles Town
Harpers Ferry, WV

Harpers Ferry, West Virginia is a confluence of time and history. Not only do the Shenandoah and Potomac River come together here, but a few of the SHS Rendezvous have connections here as well.

16 March 1803, Meriwether Lewis secured armaments and oversaw the construction of a frame for a 40 feet iron Canoe for the Corps of Discovery mission. This endeavor was in search of a water route to the Pacific Coast as well as a scientific expedition which yielded an abundance of new species but no direct water route to the Pacific as hoped. In July 2004, SHS held its Rendezvous in St. Joseph, MS on the Surveying of Lewis and Clark.

16 October 1859, John Brown attempts an insurrection at the National Armory in Harpers Ferry to arm slaves. This mission failed, and John Brown and his followers were hanged for treason and murder. In October 2016, SHS held its Rendezvous in Lake George, New York. An excursion to Lake Placid brought us to the downhill Olympic practice venue which is just over ½ mile from John Brown's final resting place. In September 2017, SHS held its Rendezvous in Boxborough, Massachusetts studying Henry David Thoreau. This, an area in which John Brown visited several times and impressed Mr. Thoreau as history states. In both instances we may have shared footsteps with John Brown.

Our 2022 Rendezvous hopes to relate to us a bit of John Brown in one of his many professions, that as a surveyor. John Brown surveyed in several states and utilized it as a tactic to gather intelligence while in Kansas. We also seek to relate the legal aspects in which West Virginia (WV) gained statehood, a long-fought boundary dispute between WV and Maryland, rivers as state boundaries and why or how some other states ended up in the peculiar shape(s) they now possess.
